THE JOHN HANSON NORRIS FAMILY

FOREWORD

All data to 1941 contained in this work, The John Hanson Norris branch of the Norris Family, is taken from the monumental work of Major Harry Alexander Davis, U.S.A., Retired, entitled "The Norris Family." Major Davis is no mere dabbler in genealogy but a Historian with a passion for accurate and documented facts. He spent many years compiling the complete family history and had three copies produced for posterity at a considerable personal sacrifice. The complete work in 4 Volumes (about 1500 pages) traces the Norris Family for nine generations in England to Thomas Norris, The Immigrant, born in Congham, County Norfolk, England, about 1608 and who settled first in Virginia about 1631 and then in St. Mary's County, Maryland, in 1637; the work then goes on to trace some eleven generations in America up to the year 1941.

The complete work must be seen and worked with for a true appreciation of its worth. It is unfortunate that many copies could not have been printed and distributed because such a tremendous and painstaking work deserves wide reference and use. However, Major Davis was as considerate as he was diligent and has placed a copy of the complete work in the Rare Book Room of the Library of Congress for public reference. There are only two other copies in existence, one being held by Major Davis and the other by his daughter, Mrs. Carroll W. Hughes. Undoubtedly some day, and we hope far in the future, the copy held by Major Davis will pass to his grandson and namesake, Harry Alexander Davis Hughes.

The undersigned spent a pleasant and profitable evening in September, 1947, with Major and Mrs. Davis and enjoyed their well known hospitality immensely. He felt like "one of the family, (which he is, perhaps a 32nd degree cousin) from the moment he entered their cozy home at 316 Shepherd Street, N.W.

It is hoped that the John Hanson Norris branch of the family will show their appreciation of the untiring work of Major Davis by continuing this family history. Little effort will be required to add current information to the attached pages. If members of the family will be kind enough to forward the information to me, I will be glad to mimeograph it and forward copies to those interested, from time to time.

EXTRACT FROM THE INTRODUCTION OF MAJOR HARRY A. DAVIS

TO HIS BOOK THE NORRIS FAMILY

"In the various branches of this family of Norris which we have encountered in this country in which any attempt to form the family tree has been made they have invariably 'hooked' on to Sir Henry Norris, who, with his six sons is buried in Westminster Abbey. Records clearly and definitely show the futility of making any claim of descent from this man unless through a female line."

"In the county of Norfolk, England, there occur several families of Norris at an early date. The celebrated antiquarian, Anthony Norris, who lived in this county spent the greater part of his life trying to connect these families without success."

"In the case of Thomas Norris (the Immigrant) there occurred the fact of his associates being from Norfolk County, England; there also appeared in the names of his children two unusual ones that continued to appear in at least one line of his descendents with considerable regularity, i.e., Geoffrey and Cuthbert. The occurrence of these names lead to the investigation of the English records for families having these names and there was found but one family in which these names ever occurred and they occurred with regularity therein; later we discovered two family records in a branch of the family, which gave conclusive evidence that Thomas belonged to the particular family. One of these families resided in Kentucky and the other in Ohio; the living members having no knowledge of each other at the present time, and apparently the last knowledge the Ohio family had of the Kentucky family was more than eighty years ago."

EXTRACT

"The first entry of the pedigree of Norris of Congham was made in 1664, this entry being signed Osbert Norris, and connects with his father Robert. From other sources, however, we have been able to put together a pedigree back to John Norris of Congham (grandfather of the above Robert) who died in 1572. The arms and crest as set out in the "Lauded Gentry" were officially recognized with this entry in 1664."

HISTORICAL

The early patronymic of this family was Norey or Norreys. The family is an ancient one in England and there is claim they came from Normandy about the time of William the Conqueror.

The earliest definite record appears to be that of Alane Norreys who was in Sutton long before the time of Henry III (1206). This line is shown in Burk's Peerage and is in the line of the Sir Henry Norris who is buried in Westminster Abbey.

There appears in Burke's General Armory some twenty-six other families of the name of Norreys, Norres and Norris who have been granted arms at some period and all different. So far as is known these families are not related. Whether all of them originally started from Alane Norreys of Sutton is not definitely known.

Of the known American families, Nicholas Norris, born circa 1640, appears to be the 8th generation of one Thomas Norris of Speke, came to New Hampshire about 1664-65, left descendents. Rev. Edward Norris, non-conformist, came to Salem, Massachusetts, about 1639, left descendents. Issac Norris, who came to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1684-85, was the only surviving member of the family of Thomas Norris who died in Barbodos, and appears to have been from Essex County, England, left descendents. Issac Norris, born circa 1795, England was a sea captain who came to Baltimore, Maryland, in 1830's and left descendents.

None of these are known to be related to each other or to Thomas Norris of this record.

The various families of this name who resided in Norfolk County, England, prior to 1700 are not proven to be related nor is it known from whence Geoffrey Noreys came when he first appears in this county.

There is a similarity in the arms of Geoffrey's descendent, John Norris, of Congham, and that of Thomas Norris of Glamorgan, Wales, though the College of Heralds, London, states there is no known record of relationship.

This history begins with Geoffrey Noreys:

1. THOMAS NORRIS (1)

The Immigrant

(First Generation in America)

The first of the name in the Province of Virginia was born in Congham, County Norfolk, England, circa 1608. He ran away from home when a lad of about 11 years of age and went to sea which he followed until the time of his arrival in the Province of Virginia in 1630-31.

From his associates he evidently settled in Nansemond County, and being of an adventurous and roving nature he became a follower of William Claiborne in his trading adventures.

It is historically well known that the earliest settlers in what later became the Province of Maryland were the members of the trading posts established by Captain William Claiborne on what was called "Kent Island," practically most of the upper Eastern Shore, in 1627. By 1633 this was quite a sizable colony, all being Church of England followers and from the Province of Virginia.

In 1634 Lord Baltimore settled in St. Mary's, Maryland, and there ensued quite a controversy between Claiborne and Baltimore which can be found in other sources and need not be recapitulated here.

Kent Island for all intents and purposes was considered as a part of St. Mary's County with no definite separate records until October 1640. (Md. Arch. i, 39, 55, 87, 361; iii, 62, 105.)

It is known that many of Claiborne's followers actually moved to St. Mary's County during the time of the Claiborne-Baltimore controversy while some of them returned to Virginia.

There is record evidence that Thomas Norris was actually in St. Mary's County, Maryland, during the year 1637, i.e.,

1. Thomas was married during the year 1637 to Ann, daughter of Thomas Hynson, of Nansemond County, Virginia, and Kent Island, Maryland, and transported her to St. Mary's County, Maryland, in that year. (Records Annapolis 1637)

2. One Michael Lums died in St. Mary's County, Maryland, sometime during the year 1638, his will was probated January 4, 1639, and his estate was administered May 7, 1640, when the Provincial Court ordered the payment of his debts and among those to whom he was indebted was "Thomas Norris." (Prov. Ct. Rec. Annapolis, also Md. Arch. IV, 59-60, 89, 90)

There are no deed records in St. Mary's County, Maryland, prior to 1831, those prior to that date having been destroyed by fire. There are a few abstracts taken from Annapolis records but they do not cover the early period. There is also a lapse in the Land Records of Annapolis from 1634 to 1658, hence the name of Thomas and his associates do not show.

It appears that after his marriage Thomas settled down and became a planter and was associated with his brother-in-law, Daniel Glover, in St. Mary's County and was possibly associated with his father-in-law in Nansemond County, Virginia.

In 1643 Thomas Norris made a trip to Nansemond County, Virginia, to the home of his father-in-law. He was reported by one John Carter, who secured head rights. In 1647 he made another trip to "Nansemum" County and was reported by one L. Peeters, who also secured head rights. It can be learned by following up many of these cases that some of the supposed immigrants in both Virginia and Maryland are really persons engaged in business and whoever transported them from colony to colony claimed land for bringing them into the Province.

Thomas Norris and Daniel Glover, his brother-in-law, whose wife was sister to Ann Hynson Norris, were "Transported" to Talbot County, Maryland, in 1663 at which time they assigned their rights for land to one John Morgan of Talbot County; Morgan did not make use of these rights until the year 1665. (Land records Lib. 9, fol. 313). Morgan specialized in "Transporting" persons to and from Virginia to St. Mary's County, Maryland, and from St. Mary's to Talbot County, Maryland, thus securing head rights to land which he disposed of for a "consideration."

There does not appear to be any definite or distinct record of the date when Talbot was lined off from Kent as a separate jurisdiction. It is first mentioned in the Council in 1660-1661, and no original boundaries defined clearly. It, however, appears that from 1661 to 1665 Talbot embraced all territory from Kent Narrows and south of Kent Island to the Delaware line and Choptank river. In 1665 definite boundary was established between Kent and Talbot.

The first Court of Talbot County was held at the house of William Coursey, April 25, 1662. Seven Justices are named and among them is Thomas Hynson. At a Court held at the house of William Coursey, November, 1663, Edward Lloyd takes his seat as a Justice. It appears that Thomas Hynson has resigned or failed of reappointment as we find him foreman of a jury of inquest and among the jury we find the following names of interest: Thomas Hynson, Jr., John Hynson, Daniel Glover and Thomas Norris, sons and sons-in-law of said Thomas Hynson, Sr. (Ct. Rec. Talbot Co. also Hist. of Talbot Co. Tilghman, pp. 203-205)

In 1665 Thomas Norris and Daniel Glover bought 400 acres of land jointly from Cornelius Comegys. Thomas Norris deeded his share of this land to William Lads on July 26, 1668. His wife does not appear in this deed. (Deeds Lib. 1, fol. 43)

In a Power of Attorney dated June 20, 1670, from Ann Hynson, wife of Thomas Hynson, Jr., to Thomas Norris, she empowers said Norris to represent her in the sale of a parcel of land called "Grayson's Rectified," granted to Thomas Hynson, Sr., deceased. (Deeds Lib. 1, fol. 110) The sale of this land is recorded June 20, 1670, Thomas Hynson, Jr., to John Hynson, land on east fork of Wickliffe being one half of 800 acres formerly owned by Thomas Hynson, deceased, father of said Thomas and John, etc. (Deeds Lib. 1, fol.109)

In 1673 Thomas Norris, of Talbot County, Md., had a grant of 200 acres of land called "Norrisdery," on Chester River (Lib. 17, fol. 315)

On November 6, 1675, Thomas Norris of Talbot County, Maryland, bricklayer, (son of Thomas Norris, Sr.) deeded to John Power 200 acres of land on Chester River for 13,000 pounds of tobacco. In this deed the land is called "Marklinborough" and it appears identical with the description of the land granted above in 1673.

From the above record Thomas Norris, Senior, died just prior to November, 1675, and intestate. He was evidently negotiating the sale of the 200 acres of land at the time of his demise and it was concluded by Thomas Norris, Junior, eldest son and heir at law.

Ann Norris, his wife, was evidently deceased prior to July, 1668, as she does not appear in the deed of that date as waiving dower, etc.

He married prior to 1680 Susannah, daughter of John and Susannah Heard of St. Mary's Co., Maryland.

In a court record 1702, John Norris testified he was 50 years of age and that his son John, was 22 years of age.

He dated his will April 13, 1709 and it was probated August 2, 1710; he devised to his sons, Thomas and Luke and their heirs, jointly, 100 acres of land called "Lugares Hills;" to sons, John and Mark, 164 acres of land and the dwelling plantation; wife, Susannah, to have use of lands mentioned during her life. Both tracts to pass to daughters, Monica, Elizabeth and Mary, should sons aforesaid die without issue. (Lib. This means of identification is followed throughout the work.

John Norris married November, 1717, Anne, daughter of John and Elizabeth Wheatley. There is no record of his death though it was after 1735 and prior to 1764. Anne dated her will November 27, 1764 and it was probated June 10, 1766. She named all of her children, except John, who is accounted for by his own will. (Wills, Lib. TA1, fol. 491)

(Ninth Generation)
(Joseph A. 8, Thomas 7, John 6, Marke 5, John Baptist 4, John 3, John 2, Thomas 1.) Born St. Mary's Co., Maryland in 1842

Left an orphan when a small child and was reared in the home of his grandmother Elizabeth Norris. Moved from the 4th District to the 7th District St. Mary's County, Maryland, with his uncles John T. and James J. Norris in the early 1860's. Probably got his middle name from maternal side of family Thomas Norris (first in Maryland) married Ann Hynson.

He married January 23, 1864, Jane A. daughter of Kenelm Cheseldine and Lucinda Ferguson, born St. Mary's County, Maryland, March 17, 1844.

He was a farmer, resided St. Mary's County, Maryland, in the 7th District and in 1882 was residing at Collingwood which was purchased in that year by Josiah Beitzell from Andrew Jackson Cheseldine, a brother of Jane A. He died in April 1885. Jane (Jennie) survived him and died June 27, 1914.

Jennie lived at Collingwood with her daughter Elizabeth (Lizzie), who married Josiah E. Beitzell, for many years after the death of John Hanson. She was a great "teller" of ghost stories to the huge delight of her youngest Beitzell grandchild. He well remembers the many happy hours spent in Grandma's room. She was an invalid in her last years and every evening after supper was the time to play innumerable games of "Seven Up" or hear stories. The ghost story always began with the grandson sitting over in his favorite corner but invariably ended with him on the bed with Grandma, sure that no one had noticed his very gradual inching a little closer to Grandma as the story progressed. She always kept a store of hard candy at hand and there was always a piece for the younger grandchildren and she loved tobacco and used it freely.

(Tenth Generation)

Born in St. Mary's County, Maryland, March 6, 1865. She married November 21, 1888, Josiah E. Beitzell of St. Mary's County and lived at Collingwood, Abell, Maryland. After her death in 1925, Josiah married secondly, Mrs. Katy (Husemann) Anderson, June, 1927, a widow with three daughters, Gladys, Lorraine and Frances. There were no children of the second marriage.

Elizabeth (Lizzie), although she had practically no formal education, loved to read and did everything in her power to insure that her children would be educated as well as possible. She was a deeply religious woman and a devout Catholic and a wonderful wife and mother. All who knew her, white and colored, relatives, friends and neighbors, loved her. It was a principle with her that unless she could speak well of another she kept her own counsel and would not speak out unless an innocent person would be injured. "Aunt Lizzie" was missed, after her death, almost as much by her many nephews and nieces as by her own children. She faced death bravely, as she had faced life, and died after nine months of intense suffering, fully conscious of the approaching end. Her last request to her youngest son was to read to her the prayers of the Holy Mass, as she had requested many times during her long illness. She died August 17, 1925 and is buried at Sacred Heart Church, Bushwood, Maryland.
